Dear Richard:

I have your good letter of 27 May, and have sent a copy to Mr. [REDACTED] and have asked him also to talk to the Ambassador about you. I feel sure that [REDACTED] can be of real help to you in getting access to the art treasures which interest you, and I wish you the success in your work.

If you have time when you are in [REDACTED] I suggest that you call on Mr. [REDACTED] at the Embassy, to whom I am giving a copy of this letter. He is in the U.S. at the moment and I expect to be seeing him this week. I shall talk to him about you and possibly he can be of help to you in [REDACTED]

It was a pleasure to see the children here. They are both charming. I can assure you that we both got great pleasure out of their visit and they could not have been better behaved or more interested in all they saw.

With all best wishes to Vee and to you on your interesting trip. Don't fail to let me know at any time when we can be of help. Clover joins me in affectionate regards.

Sincerely,

Professor Richard Edwards
